

Hello!

We are
Anne and Chris!

We have yet to meet, but we admire your bravery in deciding to give birth to your child and make an adoption plan. We cannot fully understand how hard this decision can be, or how you are feeling at this moment. We will tell you our story and hopefully that will help you with making your choice. Please know that no matter what you choose to do, we wish you and your child all the best.

Thank you for taking the time to learn about us.

Our Life Together

We met during graduate school in 2013 and knew we were meant for each other. In those 8 years we have supported each other while we pursued jobs as a doctor and lawyer, adopted a beautiful baby boy, and cared for a funny dog. We've had adventures through the mountains and back to our home on the plains, and have felt the love of many great friends and family through it all. We enjoy rafting rivers, hiking, fishing, and taking care of animals on the farm, but most of all, we love spending time with our family. We are thankful for all the gifts God has given us.

“She carries a positivity that is contagious, and we are blessed to have her in our lives.”

Anne is a wonderful mother for many reasons. First, she always puts her family’s needs ahead of her own. She has taken a break from her career as a physician to spend precious years with our son, William. I know that the love and affection he receives from her day in and day out is helping him grow into a smart, caring, and joyful little boy. Anne is wise, kind, and fun! She is always planning our next activity or adventure together. She carries a positivity that is contagious, and we are blessed to have her in our lives.

“He has an innate desire to help those in need.”

Everyday I thank God for Chris. He is kind, patient, and loving. He is a wonderful father and supportive husband. It is not hard to see why he chose to be a lawyer and part-time farmer. He has an innate desire to help those in need. He cares deeply for people and animals. This shows through his relationships. His friends and family turn to him when they are in need, and he is quick to lend a helping hand or a listening ear. Most importantly, his job as dad is his number one and favorite job. He takes our son to the farm to feed animals, to sports games, and outside hiking. He is a wonderful role model and the best dad.

William

Will is our sweet, silly 2-year-old boy. We adopted Will as a baby, and he has blessed our lives ever since. His laugh is contagious, and he is quick to flash a big toothy grin. He enjoys being around animals (including his stuffed animals), working on the farm with dad, and playing with other kids and his dog. He enjoys being outside so much that we often must find ways to coax him inside. Will loves playing with his cousins and friends. He will be a great big brother and is already practicing being a brother to our dog, Bear. They are often sharing toys, ice cream cones, and the couch.

Bear

Bear is a 4-year-old pudelpointer. He is a loving, calm, shaggy brown dog. He has a sweet demeanor and has always been good with kids, adults, and other dogs. He enjoys outside adventures and spends plenty of time resting, often sleeping at the base of Will's crib.

Our Community / Our Family

We are grateful for a large community of friends and family that support us. We live close to both of our extended families and feel very fortunate that we can spend holidays, weekends, and random weekdays with them. Our son knows his grandparents well and loves the homemade baked goods at Grandma and Grandpa Grady's house, and tagging along at the farm at Grandpa Healy's house. He loves playing with his cousins and watching their sporting events. When we adopted William, our small town, church family, and work families not only helped us celebrate, but also helped us prepare for a newborn with very short notice. We feel so supported and loved by this great group of people!

What we hope to offer a child

If we are blessed to be chosen by you, we promise that providing a loving and supporting home for your child will be the most important thing we do. We will encourage our children to pursue their dreams and goals. They will be surrounded by a loving group of friends and family. Most importantly we will give them our love and be present in their lives. Despite having busy jobs, we have both made it a priority to be with our family more than our jobs.

Thoughts on Adoption

We are willing to share pictures, letters, and updates as much as desired by you. We have a very good relationship with our son Will's birth mother. We are often in communication with text, photos, and letters, and we are happy she is a part of Will's life. We want the best for you, and we can help with living and health care expenses.

Thank you for learning about us. We wish you and your child the best. We are ready to open our hearts and home to a child and we would be honored if you would consider us.
